PROGRAM of the entrance exam
in a foreign language (English) to admit foreigners and people without residence for educational degree "BACHELOR"

Kharkiv
2023

The entrance exam in a foreign language involves a comprehensive assessment of the acquisition of the basic aspects of the language system and the practical application of acquired knowledge. The objects of control are the lexical and grammatical aspects of foreign language communication, as well as reading as a form of speech activity.

According to the provisions on the educational degree of "BACHELOR" approved by the Ministry of Education and Science of Ukraine, the foreign language exam is based on the requirements of level B1 of proficiency in a foreign language, which corresponds to the provisions of the "Common European Framework of Reference for Languages".

The content of tasks for assessing the quality of foreign language communicative competence is standardized by types and forms of performance and takes into account the peculiarities of the foreign language (English).

The objects of control are reading and writing as communicative skills, as well as the lexical and grammatical aspects of foreign language communication through the use of language. Discrete lexical units and grammatical structures are not objects of control.

The content of test tasks is presented on authentic samples of literary language and corresponds to the spheres and topics specified in the curriculum.

GENERAL CHARACTERISTICS OF THE COMPONENTS OF THE ENTRANCE TEST IN A FOREIGN LANGUAGE

CHAPTER I PART I READING

Tasks for assessing the level of foreign language reading proficiency are based on various strategies: understanding the main information (skimming), complete information (scanning), and finding specific facts (selective reading).

Authentic informational, reference, advertising, and newspaper-journalistic materials serve as sources for selecting texts (level B1).

Tests may contain visual information related to the content that will help the candidate determine the purpose of the message. In larger authentic texts, which may be presented as fragments from brochures, magazine announcements, or information from web pages, questions aimed at finding specific facts should relate to information that candidates may encounter in real communication situations. The sequence of formulated questions corresponds to the logic of the appearance of this information in the text.

Texts for skimming may contain up to 5% unfamiliar words, while for scanning and selective reading, they may contain up to 3% unfamiliar words, the meanings of which can be guessed from the context, word-formation elements, and similarity to the native language (internationalisms).

The total volume of texts is 1600 words (level B1).

Requirements for practical proficiency in reading skills (B1)

In the texts, the candidate's level of understanding of the text is evaluated, as well as their ability to identify key information, summarize the content of what they have read, draw conclusions, and express their own opinion about the information obtained.

The candidate is able to:

- 1) read (with complete understanding) texts constructed from familiar language material;
- 2) identify general and detailed information from texts used in everyday communication;
- 3) extract detailed information about people, facts, events, and more;
- 4) differentiate between primary and secondary information;
- 5) distinguish between factual information and impressions;
- 6) perceive the authors' viewpoints on specific and abstract topics;
- 7) work with texts of different genres;
- 8) review a text or series of texts in order to find the necessary information to complete a specific task;
- 9) determine the structure of the text and recognize the logical connections between its parts;
- 10) determine the meaning of unfamiliar words based on guesswork, illustrations, similarities with their native language, or explanations in the comments.

Forms of tasks:

- 1) multiple-tasks for each text (choosing one correct answer out of three);
- 2) task of alternative choice (correct/incorrect);
- 3) multiple-choice tasks for a text (choosing one correct answer out of four);
- 4) multiple-choice tasks to fill in the blanks in the text (choosing one correct answer out of four provided).

PART II LANGUAGE USAGE

Requirements for practical mastery of vocabulary and grammar

The candidates' language skills and proficiency in lexical and grammatical material are evaluated in the texts. The candidate possesses the necessary vocabulary and grammatical knowledge, can analyse and compare information, choose synonyms and phrasal verbs, understand the meaning of words in context, and comprehend the logical connections between parts of the text.

Types of texts:

Authentic texts (corresponding to level B1 of the Common European Framework of Reference for Languages), small in volume. The volume of texts is 400-450 words (level B1).

Tasks are always related to communication situations in accordance with current educational programs. Examples of written foreign language speech are used in the texts.

The test consists of short texts and tasks related to them.

Types of tasks:

- 1) with a choice of one correct answer;
- 2) to fill in the gaps in the text.

CHAPTER II WRITTEN SPEECH

The aim is to determine the level of proficiency of candidates necessary for carrying out communicative tasks in writing, which are related to everyday life.

This section of the test involves creating your own written expression and is oriented towards carrying out communicative and creative tasks such as paraphrasing, writing a short message in the form of a postcard, note or email, and writing a narrative or informal letter. The content of the tasks is related to the interests and communicative needs of the candidates.

Tasks for written expression are formulated in the form of speech situations, in which the purpose and object of communication must be clearly defined. The choice of a communicative situation involves intercultural communication, and thus the content of speech situations should include the sociocultural peculiarities of the country whose language is being studied.

The length of the written message should be no less than 100 words (according to level B1 of the Common European Framework of Reference for Languages).

Requirements for practical mastery of the skill of writing at level B1:

The text verifies the ability to carry out communication in written form according to the set communicative tasks. The level of proficiency in functional styles of written speech is also verified within the limits defined by the educational program.

The candidate can:

- 1) write personal letters using speech etiquette formulas accepted in the country whose language is being studied, speak about specific facts and events of their life, expressing their own thoughts and feelings, describing plans for the future and asking for similar information;
- 2) report on the course of events, describe a person or object;
- 3) write a message about what they saw, read, or heard;
- 4) express and justify their own point of view;
- 5) write congratulations, invitations, announcements, notes, and emails;
- 6) fill out a questionnaire;
- 7) identify and choose adequate structures, and use an appropriate lexical-grammatical range.

Exam structure

The entrance exam involves completing a test in Section I (total number of test tasks - 30), which consists of two parts:

Part I "Reading" (Tasks 1-4) contains 20 tasks of different forms.

Part II "Language Use" (Task 5) contains 10 tasks.

The test consists of three types of tasks:

1. Matching tasks (Task 1: № 1-5).

In the tasks, you are offered to match headlines to texts/parts of texts from the given options; statements/situations to announcements/texts; questions to answers or answers to questions.

2. Multiple-choice tasks (Task 2: № 6-10). The task consists of a stem and four answer choices, only one of which is correct.

3. Fill-in-the-blank tasks (Task 3: № 11-15, Task 4: № 16-25, Task 5: № 26-30).

In the tasks, you are offered to complete paragraphs/sentences in the text with sentences/parts of sentences, word combinations/words from the given options.

Section II involves completing a task with an expanded response.

The written work is completed within 90 minutes.

Recommended scoring distribution according to the scheme for scoring test tasks in the foreign language exam:

1. Matching tasks are scored as follows:

Task 1: № 1–5 is worth 0 or 4 points: 4 points for correctly matched items; 0 points for incorrect matches, multiple responses, or no response at all.

2. Single-choice tasks are scored as follows:

Task 2: №. 6–10 is worth 0 or 4 points: 4 points for a correct answer; 0 points for an incorrect answer, multiple responses, or no response at all.

2. Cloze tasks are scored as follows:

Task 3: № 11–15 is worth 0 or 5 points: 5 points for a correct answer; 0 points for an incorrect answer, multiple responses, or no response at all.

Task 4: № 16–25 is worth 0 or 5 points: 5 points for a correct answer; 0 points for an incorrect answer, multiple responses, or no response at all.

Task 5: № 26–30 is worth 0 or 5 points each. 5 points will be awarded for a correct answer, while 0 points will be awarded for an incorrect answer, multiple answers, or failure to provide an answer.

Task 6: A task with an extended response (open-ended questions) is evaluated on a scale of 0 to 60 points based on the following criteria:

a. Content (addressing all three conditions stated in the communicative situation) a1 – first condition: from 0 to 10 points.

a2 – second condition: from 0 to 10 points.

a3 – third condition: from 0 to 10 points.

b. Structure and coherence

b1 – the logic of presentation and coherence (presence of connective elements in the text): from 0 to 5 points.

Samples of examination tasks

Task 1. Read the texts below. Match choices (A-H) to (1-5). There are three choices you do not need to use.

Body Language

1 _____

Shaking hands is a polite gesture indicating friendship and acceptance. At one time, however, meeting with a stranger aroused suspicion and fear. To prevent each other from suddenly attacking, strangers joined right hands as a pledge of non-aggression, thus demonstrating that neither party was about to use a weapon. Handshaking is now the activity practised by both men and women not only to greet one another, but to seal a contract as well.

2 _____

The American “OK” sign, the joining of the thumb and forefinger in a circle, indicates that all is well or perfect. The “OK” sign acquired its modern connotation from the ancient world, wherein the circle itself was one of the oldest and most common symbols for perfection. The verbal expression “OK” is native to the United States and was formed in support of the letter “O” indicating that something was as perfect as a circle.

3 _____

When not used in hitchhiking, the thumbs-up gesture in American culture typically indicates “I like that”, while the thumbs-down gesture indicates your negative feelings towards something. The gesture has been linked to the time of the Roman arena, where the emperor supposedly ordered life or death for a gladiator by turning thumbs up or thumbs down.

4 _____

Crossing one's fingers serves as protection from bad luck or from the penalties associated with lying. Thus, when people wish for good luck, they cross their fingers, and when they wish not to be held accountable for a lie, they cross their fingers and hide their arms behind their backs to not let on that they are lying.

5 _____

By sticking out their tongues, people react to situations that may be unpleasant for them. Such displays indicate laughing or rejection. For example, children often stick out their tongues to tease each other. Or, they may also stick out their tongues in reaction to activities requiring close concentration: hence, the tongue-showing of children focused on their homework.

- A Cover bad breath
- B Show that you are wrong
- C Show that everything is fine
- D Indicate approval or disapproval
- E Making fun or just being focused
- F Indicating a feeling of helplessness
- G Guard against negative consequences
- H Demonstrate your peaceful intentions

Task 2. Read the text below. For questions (6–10) choose the correct answer (A, B, C or D).

Forget What You Know About Good Study Habits

BY BENEDICT CAREY

Every September, millions of parents try a kind of psychological witchcraft, to transform their summer-glazed campers into fall students, their video-bugs into bookworms. Advice is cheap and all too familiar: Clear a quiet work space. Stick to a homework schedule. Set goals. Set boundaries. Do not bribe (except in emergencies).

And check out the classroom. Does Junior's learning style match the new teacher's approach? Or the school's philosophy? Maybe the child isn't "a good fit" for the school.

Such theories have developed in part because of sketchy education research that doesn't offer clear guidance. Student traits and teaching styles surely interact; so do personalities and at-home rules. The trouble is, no one can predict how.

Yet there are effective approaches to learning, at least for those who are motivated. In recent years, cognitive scientists have shown that a few simple techniques can reliably improve what matters most: how much a student learns from studying.

The findings can help anyone, from a fourth grader doing long division to a retiree taking on a new language. But they directly contradict much of the common wisdom about good study habits, and they have not caught on.

For instance, instead of sticking to one study location, simply alternating the room where a person studies improves retention. So does studying distinct but related skills or concepts in one sitting, rather than focusing intensely on a single thing.

"We have known these principles for some time, and it's intriguing that schools don't pick them up, or that people don't learn them by trial and error," said Robert A. Bjork, a psychologist at the University of California, Los Angeles. "Instead, we walk around with all sorts of unexamined beliefs about what works that are mistaken."

6. the 1st paragraph the author advises parents NOT to _____.

- A behave in a dishonest way in order to get an advantage
- B offer a child something in return for studying
- C deliberately tell a child something that is not true

- D make a child feel guilty for something he/she has done
7. According to the text which of the following is the main problem parents face in September?
- A Trying to educate children with little money
 - B Looking for ways to make children read more
 - C Choosing a suitable school for their children
 - D Turning their children's attention to studying
8. The author mentions all of the following EXCEPT _____.
- A education research is fragmentary
 - B improving learning styles is quite easy
 - C teachers often ignore research on good study habits
 - D elderly people rarely benefit from new learning techniques
9. By saying "Maybe the child isn't a 'good fit' for the school", the author implies that _____.
- A the student isn't talented enough to be accepted by the school
 - B the child is not highly motivated to study as required by the school
 - C the student's learning style differs from the teaching approach at school
 - D the child lacks the physical strength necessary for intensive studies at school
10. The word "them" in line 25 refers to _____.
- A principles
 - B people
 - C trial and error
 - D schools

Task 3. Read the text below. Choose from (A–H) the one which best fits each space (11–15). There are two choices you do not need to use.

100 Years Old and Still Doing Her Bit for Others

100-year-old woman who is still an active volunteer at her local hospital has vowed to keep going.

Betty Lowe, (11) _____, was awarded the Member of the Order of the British Empire 12 years ago for her contribution to the Women's Royal Voluntary Service, a charity that provides a range of services for vulnerable people who might otherwise feel lonely.

She still helps out at her local WRVS shop at Hope Hospital, Salford, (12) _____ so that it can offer services from meals on wheels for elderly people to welfare centres for soldiers in the Army.

The active lady, (13) _____ and had to attend an open-air school, is also still involved with the Girl Guides, 89 years after she first joined.

Miss Lowe said: "I've been in the guides since I was 11. I was very interested in it and I used to go camping and walking. I was a bit of an outdoor girl when I was younger."

She progressed to being a guide leader, a role in which she introduced hundreds of teenage girls to the organisation, running annual camping trips, and is still a member of the Trefoil Guild, an organisation of more than 20,000 members (14) _____.

She said: "I've been involved with the WRVS for 34 years and I still do half a day a week."

She never married or had children, but her nephew Peter Lowe says (15) _____ and bakes dozens of cakes for relatives.

Mr. Lowe said: "She has a massive circle of friends and we all think she is marvellous. I think she loves being active. She doesn't like sitting around doing nothing."

Miss Lowe had a run of accidents before her birthday, spending a week in hospital after a fall at home and suffering whiplash in a car accident while being driven to her nephew's house. But she had a party to celebrate and more than 100 friends and relatives turned up to congratulate her on her centenary.

She said: "I think it's very good to be 100. I've enjoyed all my life."

- A which raises money for the charity
- B she always liked children very much
- C who has spent her life volunteering
- D who was considered a sickly child

- E who is known for her delicious cakes
- F who have been involved with the Guides or Scouts
- G she spends lots of time with the family

Task 4. Read the text below. For questions (16-25) choose the correct answer (A, B, C or D).

Match Made It in Heaven

As I sat sipping a cup of tea at my sister Doris' house, my husband, Brian, (16) _____ my eye and flashed me a wide smile. Brian's eyes had lit up when he saw Michael, our nephew, playing with a pile of craft matchsticks, attempting to make a house.

"How about a (17) _____?" he said to Michael. "You make a house and I'll make a little boat". In a couple of hours the pair had cut, crafted and glued the matchsticks together and the task was complete. "I'm going to call the boat Hazel," Brian said proudly. That was when his (18) _____ really started.

We found a hobby shop that sold modelling matchsticks, and we soon became their best customers. "I'm going to get bags of them," Brian said. "I'll start a new project when I get home." He got to work on a larger boat, swiftly followed by an (19) _____ copy of a Second World War torpedo boat. Brian was never happier than when he was sat in front of the TV with his matchsticks and PVA glue. It was a great way to keep his mind (20) _____ as he'd retired from his refrigerator factory job years before with health problems, so I was pleased he'd found a hobby he loved.

Soon he decided to build a giant grandmother clock. The project was (21) _____ well; it just would have been nice to clear up my living room floor occasionally. Brian would make sections of the clock and then he'd (22) _____ it together. It took around seven years and 210,000 matchsticks to complete the grandmother clock. It now has pride of place in our living room, and chimes to the tune of Big Ben every 15 minutes.

As the pieces (23) _____ up, the space in our house disappeared. "We're going to have to find new homes for some of your models," I said to Brian one day. The loft was crammed full of pieces and I hadn't seen the coffee table in years. He'd made a beautiful rocking horse, complete (24) _____ a saddle made from one of my old bags, which we gave to Brian's sister. He'd also built a huge windmill that played Tulips from Amsterdam, which we (25) _____ to his aunt.

Task 5 Read the texts below. For questions (26–30) choose the correct answer (A, B, C or D).

How Pigeons Really Get Home

Homing pigeons (26) _____ for their uncanny internal compass, yet a new study reveals that sometimes the birds get home the same way we do: They follow the roads. Tim Guilford and Dora Biro at (27) _____ Oxford University followed pigeons in Oxford over a three-year period, using tiny tracking devices equipped with global positioning system technology (28) _____ by Swiss and Italian colleagues.

What they discovered was surprising. Within ten kilometres of home, the pigeons relied less on their well-known talents for decoding the sun's position or deciphering the Earth's magnetic field (29) _____ them navigate. Instead they opted for a habitual route that followed linear features in the landscape, such as roads, rivers, railways, and hedge lines – even when it wasn't the most direct way home. “It was almost comical,” says Guilford. “One pigeon followed a road to a roundabout, and then exited onto a major road that led to a second roundabout. Others flew down the River Thames, only to make a (30) _____ turn at a bridge.”
